Project winner

We are pleased to announce that the winner of the YPG project is Janke Kleynhans. The title of her project is: The application of drug delivery systems in nuclear medicine.

The project covers the development of research on drug delivery systems in nuclear medicine which will allow for the development of novel ways to treat and diagnose diseases relevant to South Africa. The project also highlights the translation of pharmaceutical knowledge to nuclear medicine which is critical.

We would like to thank all the participants for entering the competition – all the projects submitted were really good.

We encourage all young pharmacists to continue coming up with innovative ways/projects to keep improving our profession as we move forward.
